Name a Strong Ticket—A Splendid Set of Resolutions Adopted.

Special Corr oe of the Intelli-GRAPTON, W. VA., Sept. 3.-With the court house crowded to the doors, and with enthusiasm and good fellowship, the Republicans of Taylor county met here in convention Saturday and nominated the following county ticket: House of delegate, Major F. Bruce Blue; county commissioner, J. Clark Cather; superintendent of schools, Cather; superintendent of schools, Lewis Lewellen.

Chairman Clark Lewellen, of the county committee, called the convention to order, and named John S. S. Herrand Dr. E. L. Love as temporary chairman and secretary respectively.
After the appointment of the usual committees the temporary organization was made permanent with ex-Postmater Holt added as assistant secretary.
The spirit with which the Republicans here will enter the big fight that shall determine the fate of Mr. Wilson, and their general idea of the late record made by the Democratic party is reflected in the resolutions adopted by the convention, as follows:

Be it Resolved by the Republicans of, Taylor

Be it Resolved by the Republicans of Taylor County in Convention Assembled:

We realism our unswerving faith and devotion to the platform of principles adopted by the Republican national convention of 1892; and at this juncture, which marks a political crists in the affairs of our country, brought on by the criminal incompetency of a Democratic administration, we once more with renewed forvor pledge our best individual and collective efforts to the restoration in power of that great party under whose wise, beneficent and broadly patriotic policy, during nearly a third of a century, our whole country grew, flourished and prospered with a steady, sweeping upward march—that has no parallel in ancient and modern history—until the blighting touch of a Democratic administration laid its withering hand upon us, and brought on an era of business depression and suffering, marking a period of national want and misfortune heretofore unknown in time of peace. We reaffirm our unswerving faith of peace.

We therefore again, with special em phasis, endorse the broad and well demonstrated doctrines and practices demonstrated doctrines and practices of the Republican party concerning the tarift and financial questions.

We carnostly favor the revision and perfecting of our immigration and naturalization laws, looking to the restriction of the tide of immigration within such reasonable bounds as will be protective to our American labor and American citizenship, thereby preventing either from being inoculated with the leaven of the cheap labor and the vicious and degrading elements of the old world.

We denounce the Democratic party throughout its entire course of legislavicious and degrading elements of the old world.

We denounce the Democratic party throughout its entire course of legislation, from the day of its rocent installation to power up to the present time, as presenting a stupendous fraud on the American people, a glaring incompetency, an utter lack of principle, and a thorough absence of any well defined policy on any great public question.

We condemn the tariff law recently passed by the Democratic party after the most disgraceful and prolonged struggle ever witnessed in the halls of the American Congress, as being a miserable makesuift and campaign expedient, corrupted by the domination of the sugar trust and other monopolies, and so utterly devoid of basic principles that a Democratic President declined to recognize it with his signature; and, at the same time, we condemn in unthe same time, we condemn measured terms the "Wilson bill measured terms the "Wilson bill" as it passed the house originally, in that the free trade tendency of the said bill would prove destructive to the interests of the whole country at large, and to the state of West Virginia in particular, lowering and degrading the condition of the laboring classes and the masses of the people.

state of West Virginia in particular, lowering and degrading the condition of the laboring classes and the masses of the people.

We charge the Democracy with being guilty of flagrant injustice and wanton wrong against every wool-grower in the country, by that outrageous discrimination in which the farmer's wool was placed on the free list, while a partially protective duty, in obedience to corporate influence, and not from principle, was laid on other so-called raw materials, such as coal, iron ore, etc.

We specifically and pointedly denounce the present congressman from this district, the Hon. William L. Wilson, in that he has proven false to the interests of his own constituents in the promulgation of his un-American tariff theories, regardless of the effect on the industries of his own constituents in the promulgation of his own district. And, whereas, his re-election to Congress distinctly means that the country will again beiplunged into the threes of another tariff agitation, followed by a desperate effort to obliterate every vestige of protection on the statute books, striking down the great coal interests and others in this district, with the same relentless theory that embodied into law has already blasted the wool industry of the farmer; we, therefore, call upon every citizen in this county and district who desires to see the perpotuntion of a stable tariff system built upon those lines which regard American interests primarily, to vote and work against the re-election of Mr. Wilson as a dangerous menace to the entire industrial fabric upon which the vast vested business interests of this country are founded.

We submit that the present political crisis is of that gravity and of such farrasching consequences that it is the bitter the strike of the country are founded.

We submit that the present political crisis is of that gravity and of such far-reaching consequences that it is the highest duty of every American citizen, who is worthy to exercise the perless right of free suffrage, to subordinate party to country, study the situation carefully and independently, and as becomes American manhood, form his own deliberate judgement, and then yote his own convictions regardless of the malice of more partisanship of any character. character.

"No, sir," was the reply; "we sold the last one yesterday, but we can have you one by to-morrow." The scarred and begrimed old "Buck Tail," however, knew all about the General Reynolds builet, so he didn't order acy, but bought a dilapidated canteen "from the scene of Pickett's charge." Being somewhat of a connoisseur in such matters, he examined the cantoen closely and eatisfied himself that it was not bogus. Many a boy living near one of the great battlefields obtains a living by hunting relies. Having sharp eyes, he is generally fortunate enough to pick up some remains of the "great fight," which he either sells to a dealer or directly to visitors. One boy, not long ago, at Gettysburg, found a wristbone with a bayonet plunged through it, which he sold for $25. Another, on the field of Waterloo, found two builets imbedded in each other, the one French, the other English. They had evidently met in mid-air and were valued very highly. So many tourists visit the American battlefields that it is becoming very difficult to find roles. Yet, be it said to the disgrace of the Yankoe, in some way or other the supply is kept up to the demand.

Travelers who have spent any time smong the natives of Anstralia vow that the boys of that country earn money in the most curious way ever heard of. In some parts of the country fishing is quite an industry. Among other things caught are crabs and crayfish. But instead of extehing them in nets as we do, boys are employed, and this is the method. A boy wades out where the crabs are thick. Thrusting his foot out he gives prominence to his big toe, which, wagging about in an inteing manner, he uses as a bait. In a short time he gets a bite and quickly drawing up his lest he breaks off the crab's feelers and throws it into a basket which is slung over his shoulder. Oftentimes rows of boys can be seen stretched along the shore, while a continual pantomine is kept up by in turn catching the crab, releasing it, and thrusting out the wily toe for another bite. Every mow and then a doep sea visitor strays into the crab settlement and, seeing the tempting bait, lays hold of it. Then there issues forth from the owner of that bait an unearthly yell and all the boys come running out to stare, entirely regardless of the crabs hanging to the soveral parts of their anatomy, and leaving the poor boy with a "bite" to battle with the unwelcome catch as best he can.

Chinese urchins, in some parts of the empire, pick up odd coins in a still more curious and yet somewhat similar manner. On rainy days, when a lady chances to come to a middy place and does not wish to soil her shoes, she beckons to an urchin, who will, if he is in the business, drop down in front of hor, making a temporary stepping atone, on which the lady reaches dry land again. The remuneration received for this is so small that it would hardly tempt a New York "dock rat."

are never tired of witnessing these expert exhibitions of diving. A coin is thrown off the pier, and simultaneously half a dozen dark bodies shoot into the water after it. Sometimes the money sticks in the mud, and the divera remain under the water so long that the spectators grow quite anxious. But soon they emerge from all directions, the lucky finder carrying the piece in his teeth. Oftentimes they catch a coin before it gets to the bottom.

"Every one of us," said a woman who had spent some time at Atlantic City, "knows what an uncomfortable feeling it is to have a shoe lacer come untied. Equally well does she know what an exertion it is to stoop and the it. One day, while strolling on the board walk and jostled by the crowd, I suddenly felt my shoestring come untied. Looking around for a conveniont place to sit down, I noticed a bright youngster, and beckened for him to come to me and tie it. Being unable to find anthing less than a 10-cent piece I gave him that for his trouble. Instead of showing the least surprise or gratitude, however, he, in a very business like manner, took out a 5-cent piece and gave it to me as in a very business like manner, took out a 5-cent piece and gave it to me as change, remarking meanwhile that he

The dispatches last week contained an account of the destruction by fire of several hundred flower boats in the Canton river. China, and the loss of upward of a thousand lives. Very few people know what these "flower boats" are. The following description will interest renders in search of knowledge:

boat in fact—to employ the description given by a recent writer—is nothing more or less than a floating music hall and restaurant, in which the artists are pretty and well dressed girls. Many of them are avowedly the abodes of public women. All the structures are neat and attractive; a few are beantiful.

Within the deck house are elegant furniture and decorations. Tes, sweetmosts, Chinese wines and liquors are always ready. There is no regular programme, and the etiquette is that of the parlor, and not the concert room. If you so desire you can have superbineals served on board, you can live there, and you can hire boat, cook, girls and all for your exclusive use. Under these circumstances, it is rumored, that that ethics of the musicians become a trific dilapidated. At any rate, here is where the gilded youth of Canton throws away a large amount of money. It is on record that the younger How Qua, son of the great Chinese millionative, engaged a boat and there with his friends held high revel for three months. It cost him over $200,000.

The music given in these "flower bonds" is of the best Chinese variety, and at times is very agreable to the European ear. The institution is one of the chief attractions of the city, and its visited by every stranger who can and flord the expense. A Newspaper Man Sees a Strange and Interesting Experiment-Ment Completely Digested in an Open Dish. Views of Col. J. B. Fellows, and Other New Yorkers.

New York Exchange.

It is not often that science makes a discovery that demands special investigation on the part of the newspapers. Once in a while it does, however, such as occurred in New York recently.

It has been stated positively that a

It has been stated positively that a process has been found whereby food, mixed with a certain ferment became digested before it had even entered the mouth. Certainly if this wore true it would mark an era in the history of civilization, and the writer was delegated to thoroughly investigate and record more the same report upon the same.

The first call was made at the office of

The first call was made at the office of the company which is now manufacturing the food in question, and I was permitted to inspect the process of manufacture. I found it exceedingly elaborate and scientific, and after inspecting it thoroughly I was shown the way in which it actually worked.

A piece of fresh meat was placed in an open dist and some of the predigested food mixed with it, when the temperature was raised to that of the stomach. Almost immediately there was a change in the color of the meat, next its fibers seemed to separate, and soon it assumed a liquid form, the same as it does in the human stomach after being eaten. The effect, the change, the entire process, was most wonderful and speedy.

and speedy.
"This, as you see, is a demonstration of what can be done," said the manager.
"but we prefer that you ascertain just what this food accomplishes with the people who use it. Here is a list of names, and you are at liberty to see them and ascertain just what their opinions may be."

names, and you are at liberty to see them and ascertain just what their opinions may be."

Armed with this list the writer began a tour of investigation, with the following result:

Sergeant Elias B. Dunn, chief of the weather bureau, was found in his office, looking exceedingly well. In response to my inquiry he said: "I have used the prodigested food Paskola myself and in my family, and I must say that I have found it just what is claimed for it. In fact, I have been chanting the praises of it very steadily over since I lirst began to use it. Why shouldn't I? It has built me up and made a new man of me. You see how fresh and rosy I am, and I intend to keep so."

Col. John R. Fellows, the eloquont district attorney of New York, in regard to my question said: "If I am called upon to deliver an address or make a speech upon which much deponds, I first look out for my stomach, When that is healthy my brain is clear, my thoughts are logical, and it is a comparatively easy matter to clothe them in proper language. When I am not feeling well I take Paskola, the predigested food, which sets the stomach right, clears the cobwebs from the brain and sets the machinery of thought. right, clears the cobwebs from the brain and sets the machinery of thought brain and sets the machinery of thought and cloquence in motion. There is nothing like Paskola for such a purpose and I believe it has won more cases before a jury than you would imagine."

Both Messra. Howe and Hummel, the well known lawyers, fully confirmed what I had already heard. Mr. Howe said:

what I had already heard. Mr. Howe said:

"Look at me! Feel how firm my arm is! You can see I am in perfect health, and yet I was, not loug ago, advised by my doctor to go away for my health. My present condition is the result of the use of Paskola. It is a labor saving discovery—saves your stomach the labor of digesting food. Try it as I did, and grow fat and jolly."

His partner, Mr. Hummel, said:
"I have seen a number of people try Paskola whose stomaches were so weak that they could digest nothing else, but who were able to assimilate this predigested food without the slightest difficulty. I have known an adult man wasted to a shadow by indigestion, who gained forty pounds in three moaths by its use."

Wherever I went the reports were

While in Chicago, Mr. Charles L. Kahler, a prominent shoe merchant of Des Moines, lown, had quite a serious time of it.
